Berlin. Columbia experienced a 10 per cent decline in its relief rolls in March, compared with the corresponding month last year. Single men, families and dependents on relief in March, 1933, numbered 128,858. This figure fell to 116,340 for March, 1934, a decrease of 12,518 persons. Increased employment contributed to the reduction, in respect to those who had been directly on relief.

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP).—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics, today, reported an increase, in one year, of 150,000 jobs.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 26 (AP).—While 1,000 stragglers, ready to shoot it out, sought kidnapped June Robies in the far-flung canyons and desert wastes surrounding this city tonight, authorities branded as spurious a note reducing the ransom demand from $150,000 to $10,000.

STARTING BACKGROUND

Those reports formed a startling background to a Japanese manifesto of April 17, in which Tokio said foreign aid to China that had political significance would be, opposed by force, if necessary.

Chinese leaders, meanwhile, saw in the "hands-off" pronouncement the possibility of Japanese overlordship in the coming months.

Riot and Bridge Bombing Cause Apprehension on Eve of New Constitution—May Day Expected to Mark Climax of Unrest

V IENNA, April 26 (AP).—A series of disorders and acts of violence in several sections of Austria produced the rumor, tonight, that martial law will be proclaimed during the May Day week-end, when a new Austrian constitution will be proclaimed.

A riot near Agmunden and a bridge bombing near Linz caused authorities to redouble their watchfulness.

rioting in Vienna during meeting of Vice-Burgomaster Winter and workers, on April 23, was considered particularly significant by those who expect the situation to come to a head on May Day.

The political situation also became increasingly complicated tonight as the possibility appeared that a small bound group might block a reported Government plan to get a constitution approved the next Parliament to approve the constitution before May 1.

FARM PROBLEM WILL BE FACED

Economic Council to Seek Remedy for Unprofitable Agricultural Areas

As a result of a two-day conference, concluding last evening, the British Columbia Economic Council has decided upon immediate study of means to alleviate "uneconomic agricultural areas," and upon inquiry into native coal production, the output of which has dwindled steadily for a period far longer than the duration of the depression now afflicting.

At the conclusion of yesterday's sitting, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the group, said that the council would make certain express recommendations to the Government in due course. The next meeting is left at the call of the chair, but will take place towards the end of May, it was intimated. In the meantime, members of the group will apply themselves to their new tasks.

PROGRAMME APPROVED

The scheduled programme of surveys and inquiries placed before the council by Dr. Carrothers was approved in detail, and some additional items were added yesterday, it was learned.

Initial recommendations of the council will be reported to Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, when ready, for transmission to the Cabinet. It is expected that the actual findings will not be divulged until the Cabinet as a whole has had opportunity to review them, on return of the Premier and other Ministers from Ottawa.

Dr. H. C. Winch, who missed the initial sittings through indisposition, will confer with the council, to put himself in touch with what has already been decided as to the programme of investigations before the group. Between board sittings, the resident staff will carry on.

DOG CONTINUES TO MAKE GAINS

Revived Canine Stronger—Condition of Brain Cells Not Known Yet

BERKELEY, Cal., April 26 (AP).—Still physically alive thirteen days after being asphyxiated in a laboratory at the University of California, here, a dog continued to gain strength today, and Dr. Robert E. Cornish, who is experimenting with the animal in an effort to restore the dead to life, spoke encouragingly of the results so far.

The animal eats almost like a normal dog, growing and gaining at bits of liver, but Dr. Cornish said it apparently had not regained complete consciousness.

The most important part of the resuscitation experiment, Dr. Cornish declared, was whether the animal's brain cells, damaged by death, would be restored.

PART NOT HEALED

Part of the cells, Dr. Cornish believed, have recovered their functions, but the higher part of the brain apparently has not healed.

"Of course, it is difficult to say whether his brain will function normally again," Dr. Cornish stated. "He might recover and have the brain of a puppy."

"The dog's front leg, which at first seemed to be paralyzed from the injury to the spinal cord at death, has limbered up. He is able to raise himself on his forelegs, but hasn't been able to get his hindlegs erect. Two other dogs' brains were damaged badly when they were put to death, but we are hoping the third animal will recover completely."

treaty guaranteeing Chinese territorial integrity and economic opportunities.

BLAMED FOR COLLAPSE

The Japanese are said to hold Dr. Rajchman responsible for the collapse of a pact of "non-aggression" which Japan and China were prepared to sign after the famous Mukden incident of September, 1932, when the Chinese attacked Japanese forces.

It is alleged by the Japanese they were ready to sign the agreement and not let the situation become worse, but that Dr. Rajchman induced the Chinese to submit the question to the League of Nations.

A GUARDED SECRET

LONDON, April 26 (CP).—The result of the British representations to the Japanese Government over the latter's "hands-off China" declaration, was in the hands of the Government tonight, but despite impatient queries in the House of Commons, its substance remained a carefully-guarded secret.

Although the Government refused to make any statement for the world being, there was some significance in the release from authoritative sources of figures showing Britain's commercial stake in China is more than twice as great as Japan's, and away ahead of the United States' investment.

This fact lent added weight to the authoritative information that Britain would not consider joint action with any other power in dealing with the new Japanese doctrine.

In the House this afternoon, Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, told a questioner the Government had no official information that Japan would seek naval parity with Britain and the United States, but was "carefully watching" the matter.

SENATE PASSES INSURANCE BILL

Contentious Measure Now Goes to House—Would Exempt Lloyds Deposit

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull conferred over the weekend on the bill amending the British and Canadian Insurance Act, passed third reading in the Senate, today, and goes to the Commons. The contentious clause, namely that enabling Lloyds Insurance Society to obtain a Dominion charter without making the customary $100,000 deposit, remained intact. A final effort to eliminate this provision was made by Senator Walter E. Foster, Saint John, but his amendment was defeated.

The debate on third reading today included a statement of the insurance difficulties of the Dominion by Senator Arthur Meighen, Government leader in the Senate, who supported the bill. He made it clear he supported the measure because he believed it was good, not that it was a Government measure.

DEPARTMENTAL MEASURE

In reality it was a departmental measure, supported by the Department of Justice, he agreed, however, that O. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, was opposed to letting Lloyds do business in Canada without a deposit.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY TO BE INVESTIGATED

balance should be looked into, Mr. Factor said. The committee should be told how much the manufacturer, jobber and retailer got, since the Imperial Tobacco Company, largest concern in Canada, in some cases owned both jobbing and retailing outlets.

ASKS FOR AUDITS

Audits should be placed in the manufacturing concerns to obtain a picture of their financial structure, Mr. Factor continued. The ownership and control of retail, jobbing and wholesale firms must be investigated. So should the methods of distribution and advertising. The price maintenance agreements between manufacturers, jobbers and retailers must also see the light.

And a most important phase of the investigation was the case of wholesalers and retailers who claim they are unable to purchase supplies from the large manufacturers even though they are willing to pay cash. Some retailers, Mr. Factor maintained, could not buy supplies direct from the manufacturers but were forced to pay 10 per cent commission to jobbing firms.

TO ESTABLISH PRICE

Meanwhile, experts from the producers and manufacturing concerns are still in session, seeking to establish a fair and equitable price to be paid to the man who grows tobacco.

With Mr. Stevens' assurance of the widest investigation, the tobacco phase of the committee's work was shelved until next Thursday, with the problems of bakeries, canneries and vegetable growers to be considered when the committee resumes on Tuesday.

Fourteen New Companies Include Many for Development of Mineral Claims

Fourteen million new mining shares were authorized as the share capital of British Columbia mining ventures incorporated this week. The weekly company list contained little else, and was as follows:

No extra-provincial licences were issued during the week.

The bus was nearly empty, and a woman in deep mourning was telling the conductor all about the funeral.

"Yes," she said bitterly, "and I relations never as much as give 'im a cup of tea, and now they goes and sends 'im a wreath!"

"Ah, well," replied the conductor, "concocting, 'a cup o' tea wouldn't have done no good now, would it, ma?"

DEPARTMENTAL MEASURE

In reality it was a departmental measure, supported by the Department of Justice, he agreed, however, that O. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, was opposed to letting Lloyds do business in Canada without a deposit.

OBJECT OF BILL

What the bill was trying to do, Senator Meighen explained, was to provide legislation that would be constitutional and at the same time give the Dominion department as much authority as possible. For years, in the face of the decision of the Privy Council that the Dominion had no jurisdiction in the business of insurance, that it was in the jurisdiction of the provinces, Parliament had sought to frame an act which would regulate insurance and yet be constitutional.

PROVINCIAL CHARTERS

If the Dominion did not grant Lloyds a charter, the society could do business under Provincial charters, as it was today, it already had a charter from the Province of Quebec and had been promised one from the Province of Ontario.

The firm agreed to appoint an attorney here and to come under Canadian law so that Canadian policyholders would be in a better position than at present, when, in case of dispute as to liabilities of the firm, court proceedings had to be taken in London.

BIG GAIN IN EMPLOYMENT

mining, and transportation was slack.

As is customary in the early Spring, employment in the Prairie Provinces declined. The loss, however, was less than the average indicated in the last thirteen years, and also involved a much smaller number of workers than that which occurred on April 1, 1933. The working forces of the 1,253 co-operating employers aggregated 104,186 persons, compared with 104,928 on March 1.

An advance was indicated in British Columbia, according to returns tabulated by the bureau from 843 firms, with 71,371 employees. A rather large increase had been noted on April 1 of a year ago, but employment was then in smaller volume. There were gains on the date under review in manufacturing, especially of lumber products, and in building and railway construction and retail trade, while shipping companies released help.

MEMORIAL AVE. IS PROTESTED

Veterans' Committee Will Wait Upon Mayor to Seek Rectification

Branding the present condition of Memorial Avenue as nothing but deplorable, the Victoria and District Council of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.L., last night, appointed a committee to wait upon the Mayor to place the protest of the council before him personally.

Either the avenue should be put into proper condition by utilizing the labor available through the relief department or the name of Memorial Avenue should be rescinded, as in its present state it is a disgrace to the memory of those whom it was supposed to commemorate, it was contended.

The council was advised by the city that its portion of Memorial Avenue was in good condition, but admitted that the portion running through the Municipality of Saanich was badly in need of attention.

HAVE NO FUNDS

The Saanich-Victoria beaches and parks committee advised the council that it had no funds for the work. As a result of these two communications, it was decided to approach the Mayor to see if some special attention could not be given to the matter.

A meeting of the central committee, which has charge of local arrangements in connection with the forthcoming provincial convention and also the Canadian Legion convention to be held in Portland, Ore., will meet in Naval Veterans' Branch on May 4, when it will be decided whether a band will be sent to the Portland convention from Victoria. All secretaries of various branches have been asked to inform the secretary of the district council as to the number of ex-service men who will be attending the Portland gathering. If more than 100 delegates are going, a special rate of $5 return fare can be obtained, the council was informed.

FEDERAL AID TO PROVINCES

The Dominion Government has assisted the four Western Provinces very substantially during the years of depression. It has taken care of Western provincial loans maturing in New York to the extent of $15,000,000. It has loaned those provinces for provincial purposes, including public works and direct relief, more than $30,000,000. In all, the total of the loans outstanding is over $50,000,000. These figures were given by Mr. E. N. Rhodes in his budget speech so that the public may appreciate the burden which the Federal Government is carrying. It has not only to look after its own obligations, including railway deficits, but it has to protect the national credit structure by preventing provinces from defaulting.

The provinces have paid interest on the loans advanced, with the exception of Saskatchewan, which has tendered treasury bills. Now those provinces are asking for further relief. Obviously the structure of Confederation, as regards financial obligations, stands in need of reform. This may explain why Premier Bennett says that amendments are due to the British North America Act. The Western Provinces have been engaged in an orgy of spending, and there should be some measure applied to enable them to live within their means.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP DEFICITS

Figures made public by the Federal Minister of Finance show that for the year 1933 the country had to supply $67,193,489 for deficits incurred by the Canadian National Railways. The C.N.R. budget for the present year reaches a total of $85,000,000, in which there is an estimated deficit of $48,800,000, or $10,000,000 less than last year's corresponding figure. The outstanding debt of the Canadian National in the hands of the public at the end of March last was $1,253,000,000, including $962,000,000 of obligations guaranteed by the Dominion. There are, as well, issues guaranteed by the provinces amounting to $72,000,000 and further issues unguaranteed by the Dominion or provinces amount to $154,672,291. There are outstanding loans from the Dominion to the railway company of $661,832,895, and accrued interest at $36,034,141 as of December 31, 1933.

The interest charges which have to be met out of the proceeds of taxation constitute an abnormal price to pay for public ownership, and it is rightly regarded by Premier Bennett as Canada's chief financial problem. It may be said that the Minister of Finance in his budget speech did not, in any way, attack public ownership. He did not bid to place the railway situation in as favorable a light as possible. The figures, however, speak for themselves. It had been anticipated that many millions of dollars would be saved to the taxpayers through the operation of the Railway Transportation Act passed at the late session of Parliament and by the appointment of a Board of Trustees to assist in promoting economies in public ownership. Despite these moves, however, there is still an estimated deficit of $48,800,000 for 1934. Obviously some much better result should be legitimately expected as an outcome of the recommendations made by the Royal Commission which investigated the whole subject of railway transportation in the Dominion.

CHANGING MANNERS

Manners maketh the man, and the woman as well, and the changes that have taken place, and that are taking place all the time, whether for better or worse, never perhaps were more numerous than they have been within recent generations. Some of these changes are noted by Hon. Dorothy Hood, writing in Good House-keeping, of London. Good, she says, almost kept a natural death during the Great War. Undraped hands were formerly reprobated; but they create no shock. Punctilious notes by which intercourse was carried on by those at a distance from each other have been displaced by the telephone. Perhaps the most remarkable change has been in clothes. The writer says that "the plus fours that take Bond Street and Piccadilly in their stride unnoticed would have caused consternation in hearts beating under frock-coats forty years ago. Long skirts, with their mud-spattered hems and their millions of street germs, have disappeared.

A century ago men wore velvet garments and quaint tasseled caps when indulging in smoking. They had smoking clothes so that their women folk should not be insulted by the smell of the weed. Now the grand-daughters of those carefully-shielded women "are probably more like factory chimneys than their brothers and husbands are. Prejudices have indeed vanished in smoke." Motor cars have brought about a new era of extravagance. People buy them who would never have dreamed in the years gone by of purchasing a horse. In the matter of attention to sickness radical changes have affected manners. There is a greater appreciation of fresh air. The victim of a cold finds windows wide open instead of shutting himself in with them as of yore, and respirators have vanished. The writer in Good Housekeeping then says:

Boys and girls now discuss together subjects no girl was supposed to have heard of in Victorian days. In this matter I am sitting on a fence that is Victorian on one side and Neo-Georgian on the other. Well, I shall continue to sit there. A breath of fresh air has blown away many a dusty cobweb; some think it has developed into a disastrous gale, carrying everything away in its path; but surely, like all gales, it will die down and the dust will settle once more. . . . Those conservatively-minded folk who grumble at the decay of manners, which have always varied through the ages, are wasting their time on hanks in regretting old forms. True manners spring from goodness of heart, and good hearts are here now, and always will be."

PASSING OF MR. R. R. WEBB

A popular figure is missing from the community with the premature passing of Mr. R. R. Webb, or "Bob" Webb as he was known to many hundreds of Victorians. He was known here chiefly in the roles of a prominent Rotarian, as Secretary of the Automobile Club, which he founded, and as an unusually inspiring entertainer at a host of functions. He was known, above all, as a good fellow with inspiring manners and bonhomie, as a sportsman to his finger tips and as an amateur actor. "Bob" Webb was versatile in his accomplishments. He did excellent work in his association with the Automobile Club, had been for many years a leading spirit in service work in the community, and there are not many Victorians who did not know him well or who had not heard of his genial characteristics. He will be widely mourned both here and farther afield, and the deepest sympathy will go out to his widow, sons and other members of the family in his passing.

FACIAL EXPRESSIONS

M. Pierre Abraham, writing in La Nouvelle Revue Francaise, of Paris, says that in determining character from portraits experiments have shown that the two sides of every human face have each their own particular meaning. The left side, he says, always carries the stronger forces, such as determination, industry, skill and ambition. On the right side can be read the emotions and feelings: the loves, the hates, the joy and sorrow, the gaiety and somberness. M. Abraham believes that every face has these separate aspects more or less deeply imprinted. He has found a winning smile on one side of a face and a heavy scowl on the other. In one eye he has caught the glint of comradeship and sympathy, and in the other the cold, hard look of the calculator. He says that by placing a folded paper over one-half of your friend's portrait while reading the other half, you will gain a deeper knowledge of character than it was possible to learn before.

Some day governments will get back to the principles of government and cease the policy of interference with affairs which, in the best interests of the governed, should be none of their concern. The matter was tersely put by Lord Macaulay a century ago when he wrote: "Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their legislative duties, by leaving capital to find its own lucrative course, commodities their fair prices, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment; by maintaining peace, by defending property, and by observing strict economy in every department of the state. Let the government do this, the people will assuredly do the rest."

In the London municipal elections only one-third of the voters went to the polls. Of those who voted a little more than one-half, or one-sixth of the electorate, favored Socialism. Two-thirds of the voters did not bother to exercise their franchise and The London Observer says "that a community that treats its franchise with this indifference will have itself to thank for any shocks it may sustain in the course of the next three years."

NIGHT-PIECE

Lady, the world is old, and we are young.
The world is old, tonight, and full of tears
And tumbled dreams, and all its songs are sung.
And echoes rise no more from the tombled years.
Lady, the world is old, but we are young.
Once only shines the mellow moon so fair;
One speck of Time is Love's Eternity.
Once only can the stars so light your hair,
And the night make your eyes my melody.
Lady, the world is old. Love still is young.
Let us take hand ere the swift moment end.
My heart is but a lamp to light your way,
My song your counselor, my love your friend,
Your soul the shrine whereat I kneel and pray.
Lady, the world grows old. Let us be young.
—Thomas Burke.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Cuts is the land and sea of gold.

And sure the halcyon time.

It was the lure of gold which first attracted the attention of the people of almost every part of the world to British Columbia. Previous to the discovery of the placer deposits in the Cariboo district British Columbia was practically an unknown land and an undiscovered country. It was so utterly isolated from the great centres of trade and industry that although it was a British possession the Imperial government of the day regarded it as of little value to the Empire. But for the wisdom and foresight of the resident servants of the Crown, the province which is now British Columbia might have become an attachment of the United States.

Certain portions of the possessions of the Crown on the Pacific Coast already had been incorporated in the Republic.

This Imperial indifference was excusable, for in those now comparatively far-off days means of communication between the colony and distant parts of the world were neither many nor swift. It is said that ill news travels fast. The same may be said of good news. At all events the news of the discovery of gold in the Cariboo country of British Columbia soon travelled to California, which contained many gold-diggers, to Australia, and the first gold rush was off or on.

Of the province upon upon other gold-hunters which laid the foundation of the city of Victoria and established a short era of prosperity for British Columbia.

Again history is doing what it often has done, according to historians. It is repeating itself. The resources of British Columbia are many and various, but the future of the province depends more upon its minerals than upon any other single industry. The discovery of placer deposits created a boom, which was merely temporary, but it also proved a valuable advertisement and, indirectly, if not directly, resulted in the colony becoming a province of Canada and a conspicuous country on the map of the world. The present revival in the mining industry will not, we trust, be productive of a temporary boom,

but promotive of a permanent business revival.

Wherever gold-seekers are gathered together there are disputes, and inevitably there is litigation in the courts. During the first gold rush to the colony nearly all disputes about claims and boundaries were settled according to the good old rule, the simple plan, until the late Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie

established a more equitable plan.

But the law as established by the late Chief Justice did not create precedents which became permanent.

At a later period there were disputes and litigations, pertaining to which we have received the following letter from a reader:

Dear R. B. D.—Am sending verses by J. Herick McGreggor, who no doubt you remember. They strike me as being a first-class "take off" of the comedy song of mining litigation.

In those days we had what is called the staker of a mineral claim was given the right to follow the lateral extension of the vein upon which he had located.

Am told that the late Chief Justice, who, who, who, who, who, who, became exasperated because of the interminable repetition of technical mining phrases and exclaimed:

"Here am I, sitting on the apex watching my learned friends trace these wretched lateral extensions."

IS IN FAVOR OF GOV'T PRINTING

Secretary of State Thinks None Should Go to Outside Firms

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP).—All Government printing should be done by the Department of Public Printing and Stationery, and the act should be amended for this purpose, Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, told the Senate public accounts committee today.

The amount of Government printing by outside firms had been reduced considerably since 1930. The Postoffice Department, however, still had a substantial amount of printing and lithographing done outside the Printing Bureau.

TO AVOID PATRONAGE

To ward off claims of patronage, which were large and pressing, the Secretary of State said, tenders were called for all supplies costing $500 or more, ordered by the stationery branch for departments.

A thorough business-like administration of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery would reduce the cost of administration by $150,000 to $200,000 annually, he estimated. This could be done, said Mr. Cahan, by giving him a little more "elbow room" in effecting retrenchments and by balancing the work so that nine-tenths of the printing of blue books and reports would be done in the summer.

WORK FOR WINTER
Printing of debates and bills and proceedings would be the main work in the winter. The establishment of a bureau of translation would abolish the waste of $75,000 to $80,000 per year because of re-setting of type and other corrective work.

Answering Senator W. A. Buchanan (Lethbridge), witness said "clean copy" should come to the Printing Bureau in translation work.

Senator Buchanan asked if the scale of wages at the Printing Bureau was at the same rates as prevailed on Ottawa newspapers, for instance. The rates paid at the Printing Bureau were the "prevailing rates," said Mr. Cahan.

Sympathetic Friend—"Good gracious! Your car is certainly smashed up, and you are a sight! Did you hit something?"

Beginner—"No, I turned out to let a bridge go by and a big tree came tearing toward me and bumped right into me."

Canal Is "Attacked" by Air Force

An important feature of United States navy manoeuvres while en route from the Pacific base to the Atlantic seaboard, was a theoretical attack on Panama Canal for the purpose of testing defences of the waterway. Use of aircraft is regarded as paramount importance. Here an aircraft carrier is shown surrounded by smoke screen laid down by destroyers and planes as protection against shore batteries.

BIBLICAL PLAY GIVEN OVATION

"Dream of Queen Esther" Repeat Performance Is Great Success

At the close of last night's performance of the "Dream of Queen Esther," by the St. John's A.Y.P.A., in the Shrine Auditorium, it was announced that the Biblical drama would be repeated again on May 9, under the auspices of the Colfax-Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F. No. 81, John's Hall. Last night's performance was under the auspices of the Past Matrons and Patrons' Association of the Order of the Eastern Star. Nearly 500 persons were present.

A large portion of the audience comprised those who were unable to gain admittance when the drama was first given. The fact that the play was accorded a rousing ovation last night, and that the public has demanded repeat performances is sufficient testimony of the merit of the production.

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS

Miss C. Jeeves, who portrayed the part of Esther, a Jewish maid, who later became Queen of Persia, and J. Laver, who took the part of Mordecai, leader of the Jews in Persia, were the outstanding characters. They never forgot once the roles in which they were cast.

Miss Jeeves and Miss Forrest Creelman were the recipients of beautiful bouquets of flowers, presented by Mrs. G. W. Miles, on behalf of the Past Matrons and Patrons' Association, O.E.S.

The entire production was well cast, particularly when it is remembered that there are so many parts to portray. The A.Y.P.A. orchestra, comprising Miss K. Brown, Alan Paver, Stanley Lavey and A. Mike,

PAID RESPECTS TO LATE MEMBER

Rotary Club Honors Memory of Robert E. Webb at Luncheon Meeting of Organization

At the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday, a tribute was paid to the memory of Robert E. Webb, who passed away earlier in the day. For years the deceased had been a member of the club and took charge of the community singing, not alone at the meetings of the local body, but who also officiated in that capacity at larger Rotary meetings. At the big gathering of the district here last year, Mr. Webb had won signal honors from all in attendance by his leading of the singing for the meeting.

Following the introduction of visiting members at the club luncheon yesterday, when it is the practice to sing a reception song to such visitors, Frank Sehl, who has been acting as the leader of the singing in the absence of Mr. Webb during his continued illness, expressed the opinion that in view of the fact that the termination of Mr. Webb's sickness, it did not seem fitting to join in song.

Mr. Sehl said it was hard to realize that their great friend had passed. He referred to the fact that the Rotary activities of Mr. Webb were more than local. They were international. Throwing himself with all the energy that he possessed into anything that he undertook, Mr. Webb had literally worn himself out for the pleasure and entertainment of his fellow men.

Mr. Sehl moved a resolution of sympathy be forwarded to Mrs. Webb and the other members of his family, which was followed by the entire gathering rising as a mark of respect.

OPERA WILL BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Eurydice Art Club to Present Gilbert and Sullivan's Work "H.M.S. Pinafore"

Something entirely new in the field of theatrical entertainment will be given tonight, in the Empire Theatre, by the Eurydice Art Club, which will present its first production to a Victoria audience, namely Gilbert and Sullivan's famous opera, "H.M.S. Pinafore." It will be the first performance of an opera staged by children.

Weeks of arduous rehearsing on the part of the performers has resulted in a finished production that promises to be of outstanding merit. No detail in costume, characterization, music or stage effects has been overlooked, the producer announced yesterday.

Mrs. W. B. McMillan, president of the society, and Mrs. Percy Mickleburgh, director, and Edgar Holloway have spared no effort in their endeavor to present a meritorious performance.

PRINCIPALS WELL KNOWN
The principals are all well known and talented young people. The leading soprano, the voice of Miss Margaret Lennox will be heard in the solo of Josephine. Miss Allie Barclay takes the contralto part of Blubber and Miss Gertie Mackey is cast as Hebe; W. O. Frampton as Ralph; James McVie as Captain Corcoran; Howard Vey as Sir Robert Porter; and Robert McVie as Richard Dadey.

Maryann Peterson, Pacific Coast champion dancer, will give a solo dance, and will be assisted by sixteen dancers of the Mrs. Dorothy Wilson's Russian Ballet School.

Sir: "How dare you say my father is a wretch!"

He: "Well, I told him I could not live without you, and he said he would willingly pay the funeral expenses!"

In Cork, recently, curiosity was aroused, so the story runs, by a man who was walking ahead stretching out his arm whenever he took a crossing or turned down a street. An onlooker ventured to stop him and inquire why he did this. The man made no secret of it. "It's all I have left of my motor car," he replied.

FLOWER SHOW OPENS TODAY

Hon. K. C. MacDonald to Officiate at Ceremony at 3 o'clock at Willows

Featuring twenty varieties of flowers, the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association opens its two-day spring flower show at the Willows at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, will pronounce the exhibit officially open at 3 o'clock, and will be escorted on a tour of inspection of the hundreds of competitive and non-competitive flower exhibits by Dr. C. T. Hilton, of Alberni, president of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association. Commencing at 3 o'clock, a programme of dancing by Miss Florence Clough's pupils, and a fashion parade sponsored by Angus Campbell & Company, Ltd., will be held. At 8 p.m. another dancing concert will be given. On Saturday at 3 p.m., dancing will again form part of the programme, and at night, commencing at 8 o'clock, another fashion show, with dancing interspersed, will be given.

FOUR DISTRICT DISPLAYS
Four big district displays, in Class "B," from Alberni, Metcalchin, Gowan and Victoria, showing gorgeous arrays of flowers, plants and ferns, will vie for the coveted Victoria City Challenge Cup. Nine other large displays, each covering 150 square feet of floor space, will draw considerable attention in the competitive class, it is expected. The show is being staged on elaborate plans this year, with over 200 entering exhibits.

On entering the Horticultural Building, patrons to the show, will be struck by the display by the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute and the Victoria Women's Institute. In the centre of the building will be striking imitation of the garden of bright tulips, grown and arranged by the Dominion Experimental Farm.

CEREMONY PLATFORM
The ceremony platform will be at the north end of the hall, and will be gaily decorated by Parks Superintendent W. H. Warren, with flowers from the city nurseries. To the left of the platform, the Mount Douglas Greenhouses are displaying while on the other side, bedding plants and greenhouse flowers will be shown by W. Jennings & Son. Long tables of gorgeous cut flowers, mainly roses, dahlias, tulips and irises, will be exhibited at the south end of the building. Forming a background for these flowers will be a commercial display of flowering trees and shrubs. Another feature will be a large landscape display by the North and South Saanich Horticultural Society. Native woodland and rock plants will be arranged in a pretty show for the occasion by A. B. Morrell, vice-president of the V.I.H.A.

V.I.H.A. GOLD MEDAL

S. L. McMullen, of Gordon Head, has arranged a 150-foot garden of general flowers to compete for the V.I.H.A. Gold Medal, awarded annually for the best exhibit of this kind. A similar exhibit will be displayed by T. Salsbury, of Gordon Head, but as he won the award on several occasions in the past, he will not compete in the show. No other entry has been received in competition for the medal.

Other splendid displays will be contributed by Ballantyne Brothers Ltd., Rockhome Gardens, Brown's Victoria Nurseries, Ltd., and Fred Wiper Nurseries. Gordon Head School and Willows School are also competing with fine sections for the R. M. Palmer Shield, while the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides are contesting the Rockhome Challenge Shield.

Prizes will be presented Saturday at 9:30 p.m., and plants and flowers of the show will be sold at auction, commencing at 10 p.m.

See this big, roomy Hupmobile 4-door Sedan at our showrooms

In the past few years, many people who would normally own Hupmobiles—people who appreciate quality, have had to forego fine-car ownership. But now an exciting new automobile has solved their problem overnight!

And what's more, this new car is a Hupmobile of thrilling new Aero-dynamic design... in either a big four-door Sedan or a smart Coupe. And it's a car built with absolutely no compromise—none of the usual "skimping" so often found when costs must be kept down.

You won't believe your eyes when you see these cars and realize their low list prices. Everything about them has that fine-car quality which you would naturally associate with Hupmobile.

And the performance is true Hupmobile performance—but that's too good to describe... Better drive one yourself and see what we mean. Bring your present car along for an appraisal.

Women of France Not Feminists

"Famous French Women of Today" was the subject of a brilliantly interesting lecture given by Mme. Marie de Mare, of Paris and New York, official lecturer for the Alliance Française, at Victoria College, on Wednesday evening. Like many other contemporary commentators, Mme. de Mare emphasized the point that French women were not showing as much concern over the feminist movement as some other countries, this being due, in part, to their temperament, but also to the fact that the majority of French women preferred to express their views and exercise their rights through the intermediary of men.

Among French women who are quite earnestly supporting the feminist movement, however, is Madame Avril de St. Croix, and the linking up of her group of thought with the international movement may eventually develop much more widespread interest in the subject among the women and men of France.

GOAL OF FRENCH WOMEN

For the present, the family, the hearth and home, are the goal of nearly all French women, although economic conditions or individual ambition have resulted in great numbers following business or professional careers. The highly practical attitude toward marriage was still general. Happiness and romance in marriage were matters of secondary consideration. The relations of the sexes in marriage were summed up in the quotation: "With the Anglo-Saxon the man walks first; with the American, the woman first; but the French walk side by side."

Among the women of France who had achieved careers in literature were mentioned Madame Savary, Lucie Delarue Mardrus, Mme. Juliette Adam, Gertrude Le Blanc, Valentine Thompson and Marcel Tynaire.

At the close of the lecture, Mme. de Mare was cordially thanked by Mrs. E. Sanderson-Mongin on behalf of the audience, and a corsage bouquet was presented to the lecturer by Mrs. H. M. Archibald. Later the lecturer was the guest of honor at a reception at the home of Mrs. Hamilton-Smith, Cavendish Avenue.

Wife: "Darling, I want your advice. What do you think would be a good thing for you to buy me for my birthday?"

Bishop Perrin's Son Is Married In London City

The following account in The Morning Post of the marriage on April 12 of the son of Bishop Perrin, former Bishop of Columbia, has been sent to Ven. Archdeacon Laycock:

"The busy people who throng the pavements near the Bank of England found a wedding party in their midst at midday yesterday. A beautifully-dressed bride and her bridesmaids, followed by four charming groomsmen, walked from St. Margaret's Church, Lothbury, past the Bank of England, and across Princes Street to Grosvenor Hall, where the wedding reception was held. As they crossed the busy street, the ever-obliging city policemen made an avenue for them in the traffic. Many of the onlookers raised their hats.

"The wedding was that of Mr. Michael Wilcox Perrin, a son of Bishop Perrin, assistant Bishop of London, and Miss Nancy Curzon, the only daughter of the Bishop of Stepney and Mrs. Curzon. Three bishops took part in the ceremony. The Bishop of Stepney, who is rector of St. Margaret's, gave away the bride, Bishop Perrin performed the ceremony, and the Bishop of London gave an address.

"About 100 guests were at the church, and after the bridal party had left the reception they followed in small groups. The decision to walk instead of proceeding by car was made in order not to delay

Artist Will Visit Here In Summer

John Delisle Parker, brother of Charles H. Parker, of Pato Court, Oak Bay, an artist of international reputation, who makes his home in Paris, arrived in Vancouver yesterday on the S.S. San Francisco of the French Line, and will be a visitor in British Columbia for the next three or four months. It is his intention to give, both here and in Vancouver, a series of lectures for various groups interested in art, French history and related subjects, and he will also devote the summer to painting British Columbia scenes. He has been in Victoria on previous occasions for long visits with his brother, and has many friends here.

Born in the United States, Mr. Parker spent most of his boyhood in England, while his father was minister, Consul in Birmingham, and London. He served in the British Army during the war and subsequently studied art in Paris and Italy. He has traveled widely, as the large gallery of paintings he has done bears evidence to. Many of these hang in the leading galleries of Europe and America.

WON ACCLAIM

He is an authority on the history of early French Canada, and has won acclaim in France for paintings of Frontenac and Jacques Cartier, the latter arousing special interest on the occasion of the 400th anniversary of the landing of the French explorer in Canada.

The French Government has made recognition of Mr. Parker's gifts by giving him several official commissions to paint scenes in the French colonies in North Africa. For several years, while working on these, he lived among the Arabs, and had a number of narrow escapes from hostile tribes.

In Vancouver, where he will spend a few days, Mr. Parker will be the guest of Frederick Dallas, and in Victoria will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Parker, of Pato Court. Many will recall with pleasure the unusual and delightful "shadow pictures" shown by Mr. Parker on several occasions during his last visit here, three or four years ago.

Old Dutch costs less to use because it goes further. It goes further because it's the only cleanser made with "seismo-tite" (pronounced sis-mo-fite), a fine, flaky, scratchless cleaning and polishing material of volcanic origin. ## PEACE CRUSADE MOVE ENDORSED

National Executive Approves
Motion to Go to Prime Minister

Announcement was made yesterday through the national executive of the World Peace Crusade of the result of the mail vote on a resolution which will be dispatched to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition, and J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., asking their support.

The movement originated with C. de C. Johnston, of Duncan, and now numbers over a half a million in Canada and has extended to twelve countries.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

The following is the text of the resolution, which has been approved:

"The World Peace Crusade," an international body, formed for the sole purpose of obtaining by vote, if necessary, for the peoples of each country:

"1. The sole right of declaring war.

"2. The state control and manufacture of all armaments.

"That we, the national executive in Canada of the World Peace Crusade, call upon the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, and the members of his Government, to bring before the Canadian Parliament, at the session now sitting, the aims of the World Peace Crusade.

"That if, upon discussion, the honorable members are not sure of the wishes of His Majesty's subjects in Canada, a plebiscite be taken at the next general election for the purpose of ascertaining the will of our people.

"That the Government of Canada repeal immediately the war-time measure still in force known as the Military Conscription Act.

"That the Leader of the Opposition, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and the leader of the C.C.F., J. S. Woodsworth, be communicated with and asked to support this motion."

Going to Orient To Seek Out New Market for Wool

On his way to the Orient to endeavor to establish new wool markets for Uruguay, Rich Bayer, a prominent wool exporter of Montevideo, arrived in Victoria yesterday and will leave shortly for Japanese business centers.

Before coming to Victoria, Mr. Bayer visited in the United States and traveled as far as the Canadian Rockies in Canada. He was aboard the Japanese steamer Rio de Janeiro when that vessel was wrecked off the coast of Japan.

EXPECTS CONTRACTS

Mr. Bayer intimated that the most cordial relations existed between Japan and Uruguay and that he hoped to be able to secure orders from some of the large Japanese woolen mills before returning to his native country.

The United States market, he stated, had been curtailed to some extent by tariff laws. He advocates the lowering of all tariff barriers to permit freer international trade.

The business outlook in Uruguay, he said, is generally improving and optimism for the future prevails among the sheep ranchers due to the recent increase in wool prices.

"Charles," said Mrs. Hilderton, "I must give you credit for one thing. In all our married life you have never spoken an unkind word to me."

"No, Maria," agreed the grateful husband. "What I am wondering," added his wife, "is whether to give you credit for a lovely disposition or mere lack of courage."

GIVES PLAN FOR TRAINING YOUTH

Dr. E. M. Best Delivers Educational Address Before Members of Rotary Club Here

Dr. E. M. Best, national secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Canada, addressed the Rotary Club yesterday, taking as his subject the modern idea with regard to manhood as accepted as the pattern for boys and girls. The speaker alluded to the ideals of Rotary, which, under the name of service, was very similar in its aims to the principles which he enunciated. He praised the good work done by the club in its boys' work and admonished the members to continue their assistance to the Y.M.C.A. in its efforts.

Human nature was the most important study for the race. It appeared as if at times more time and money was being spent on the improving of grains and animals than upon the human family. It was only right to expect the development of a definite plan for the training in religious education for men and women.

ALL-ROUND DEVELOPMENT

The importance of mental hygiene was stressed by Dr. Best so that there might be fewer unbalanced people than at present. Knowledge of the mental development was required. Boys and girls should be trained to think straight.

The speaker alluded to the need of setting high moral ideals that would make for good will and honor among men. To be good was not enough, but the youth should be trained to be useful by being skillful in some special line. At the present time there was need of skill in human relationships.

As the cap stone in the structure was needed, he said, the fulfillment of life or idealization. Self sacrifice for others was so related. Sacrifice for the redemption of man from the evils that prevailed was required. The real resources of Canada were in reality her boys and girls.

"This is the fourth morning you've been late, Rufus," said the man to his colored chauffeur.

"Yes, sah," replied Rufus. "Ah over-sleep myself, sah."

"Where is the clock I gave you?"

"In my room, sah."

"Don't you wind it?"

"Oh yes, sah. I winds it up, sah."

"And did you hear the alarm?"

"Every night, sah."

"But don't you hear the alarm in the morning, Rufus?"

"Now, dat's jes' de trouble, sah. Y'er se, de old thing goes off while I'm asleep, sah."

WHEN Siam's King and Queen take a day off from looking after the needs of their people, they turn to two entirely different lines of sport for amusement and relaxation. Queen Rambhaiarni is an ardent tennis fan, and is seen in (1), slicing at a fast one. King Prajadhipok, in (2), is shown working his way out of trouble on the links.

POWER SUPPLY THE BIG ISSUE

Ladysmith Council Devotes Session to Discussion of Agreement Details

LADYSMITH, April 26.—Practically all the business at last evening's regular meeting of the City Council consisted of detailed discussion and consideration of the agreement submitted by the Nanaimo Electric Light, Power & Heating Company for the supply of bulk power to the city.

Mr. MacDonald, manager of the Island division of the utilities, was present, and explained each clause of the agreement, which he said, was the usual thoroughly legal document in such cases.

Incorporating an amended minimum charge against the city of $400 monthly, the first six-five kilowatt hours per month per k.v.a. of maximum demand is rated at forty cents per kilowatt hour. The next forty-five is charged at three cents per kilowatt hour, the third at two cents and the excess over 195 kilowatt hours is rated at one and a half cents per kilowatt hour.

ESTIMATED SAVING
The estimated saving to the city by the agreement is approximately $280 monthly, or around $3,000 annually. Mr. MacDonald asked that an early decision be made by the council on the agreement, in order to give the company adequate time to receive the necessary equipment for installation by June 1. Mayor Walkem remarked it was rapidly proving economically impossible for the city plant to provide a twenty-four-hour service, and he thought it would be to the advantage of the citizens and consumers to have the change over made as quickly as possible. At the same time there was a propaganda movement against signing an agreement with the company, and he felt that a copy of the proposed agreement should be published in the local paper on Friday to acquaint the public with the terms offered.

It was stated that a report emanating from the city power plant that day had claimed that power could be produced there at two and a half cents per kilowatt hour. In view of the statistics relative to production costs over a period of several years, the council felt this suggestion was ridiculous as it stood.

E. T. Reid admitted that additional power required at an off-peak period could possibly be produced at two and a half cents, but nothing approaching this figure could be obtained on average production.

"MISLEADING RUMORS"
Some of the aldermen felt these misleading rumors were merely "power house propaganda" and did not represent the common sense feeling of the city.

A special meeting to decide finally upon the agreement will be held on Monday, the last day of the month. The chief engineer of the city power plant wrote to the council, submitting his resignation. T. Proudfoot has been in charge of the plant for many years. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

Mayor W. W. Walkem, at the wish of the council, will call a public meeting to discuss arrangements for the annual celebration on July 1.

CAMPBELL RIVER, April 25.—The annual meeting of the Campbell River Board of Trade, held in the Willow Hotel here on Wednesday evening, preceded by an excellent dinner, was enjoyed by all present.

MAKING STUDY OF GOLD LEVY

Mining Institute Head Opposed Taking Stand on New Imposit

MONTREAL, April 26 (CP).—An added surtax of from 30 to 60 per cent on the present taxable income of the principal gold producers is too great a burden to add to any industry.
"We will continue to get figures and study the situation so that if it is considered wise later to take steps, we will be in a position to discuss the matter intelligently."
The Hon. Frank McPherson, Provincial Minister of Public Works, and L. A. Hanna, M.P.P., for the Comox district, were guest speakers. Mr. McPherson could not see his way to promise the construction of a much-needed road to Sayward in spite of J. E. Armistead's able plea. Mr. McPherson gave some interesting figures on costs and maintenance of bridges and roads. In a review of the past session, Mr. Hanna stressed the financial difficulties through which the Province is passing, but hoped for a way out eventually.
J. H. Eakin, president of the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade, also addressed the meeting briefly. Out-of-town visitors included J. M. Mitchell, Ben Hughes and Warren Cooper, of Courtenay. Rev. Alan Greene, of the Columbia Coast Mission, responded to a toast to the visitors.

INSECT SCOURGE HALTS SEEDING

Buffalo Gnat Kill Thousands of Dollars Worth of Livestock in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 26 (AP).—Spring farming operations were stopped today in many sections of Arkansas as the worst scourge of buffalo gnats in years clouded the skies and killed thousands of dollars' worth of livestock.
First reported at Marianne, in Eastern Arkansas, last week, the dense swarm moved across the lowland country, attacking work stock in the fields as farmers battled the scourge with smoke and oil.
"No doubt the Government need a large increase in revenue somewhere. It would, however, be extremely unwise, in my opinion, to place a gross tax on the output of properties which are not showing any profits. There are many other features of the percentage tax of the gross receipts which are very liable to cause great distress."
"I have found that the present tax will be equivalent to adding a surtax of 30 to 60 per cent on the

YOUNG FRANCE IS RESENTFUL

Growing Army of Students Bitter Against Present French Authority

PARIS (CP).—If ever a wind-favored revolution roused wild dreams as it went, it is that which is blowing down from the height of Montmartre, twigs the sign "Reverend of Poor Bachelors" in passing, and fills the heads of those who enter with feverish enthusiasm.
"Bachelors" refers not to their loveless state, but to their citizenship in the republic of letters, as bachelors of art, science, as doctors, lawyers, engineers and artists. They are the growing army of students. No matter how Paris may shrug her shoulders, this proletarian of intellect has already helped in the overthrow of four cabinets and made a regime totter.
Above the white dome of Sacre-Coeur rises against a flaming background of clouds. Four hundred feet below, the rampart of Montmartre plunges into Paris like the prow of a huge ship into the sea, from which emerge in the distant mists the dark towers of Notre Dame like twin black reefs.
Tridistant shadows hold city, hill and sky in a vast shimmering splendor.
It is the hour when the poor bachelors emerge from the incognito of the crowd and turn their footsteps to the modest refectory under the swinging sign, half way up Montmartre. They hasten as invited to a banquet over their coffee and rolls at two cents, or their dinner at ten cents, these scholars, nourished on Greek and Latin and the higher calculus, yet dying of hunger, plot the future of France. Then, warmed by the coffee and the air vibrant with dreams, they soon leave the purely national point of view to pass on to world civilization.

AWAKENS AT TWILIGHT

They collect here and at Place du Tertre, above on the heights, every night by the thousands, these youths with the disillusioned and unflinching eyes. Already the lash of their stinging criticism has driven from the University the old and idle pleasure seekers, who had made of this former haunt of artists and writers a modern playground.

HYPNOTISM AID TO MEDICAL MEN

Parisian Doctor Says Science Genuine and Can Be Made Valuable

MONTREAL, April 26 (CP).—Hypnotism is truly a genuine science and could be of valuable aid to the medical world, believes Dr. Raymond Papillon, Parisian scientist, who is visiting here.
Dr. Papillon has spent much time in scientific investigations and among his many subjects for study is hypnotism as practiced by the Tibetan monks who, he says, are acknowledged as originators of the science. He is convinced that these monks practice a really genuine science and through their efforts spread through Russia into Europe in the early part of the nineteenth century.
Dr. Papillon is convinced it is quite possible for a man to hypnotize himself by holding a bright object at a short distance from his eyes and gazing fixedly at it for some time. Similarly, a man possessing deep-set eyes is able to hypnotize people if he can cause them to concentrate on his eyes.
The medical value of hypnotism lies in the fact that while a patient is under hypnotic influence, his subconscious mind is open to suggestion. Genevieve, a League of Nations doctor, has used this device into the depths of his mind and so discover the cause of his ailments, said the doctor.

KNOW NO FEAR

But there are two things they do not know, fear and humility.
On the hill, the terms "traitor" and "politician" have become synonymous. Genevieve and the League of Nations doctors, there pass from table to table caricatures, sketched by the quick hands of artists there, caricatures of European politicians, hanging from gibbets, with ribald comments scribbled beneath. Then the laughter strikes the stars.
Grandiose phrases are banded from table to table, such as "the death rattle of the universe"—"the ruins of a world about to be engulfed." The black and yellow lights outline the gestures, the faces of the crusaders of youth as they dine meagrely in the open air. Beyond the white dome of Sacre-Coeur cuts the stars. Far beneath Paris gleams, an ocean of lights.

STUDENT NUMBERS

Daily the cohorts of youth grow in determination and numbers. The faculties of France will see 72,000 graduate this year as compared with 9,388 in 1920. The students at the University of Paris increase in numbers, 1,000 a year until they reach now 35,000.
Now and then, worn out with overwork, the double shift, as they call it, working at night at a table, and in the day at the university, a student kills himself with fatigue, giving way to poverty or despair, puts a bullet through his head.
Those nights, the comments, falling between silences at the Rensselaire, the comments of a student more ominous still. Then the rest take the memory of these poor brothers of Montmartre to make of it a bulwark against surrender.

NEW PRESIDENT GIVEN HONOR

General Ross at Regina Outlines New Policy for Canadian Legion

REGINA, April 26 (CP).—Three hundred Canadian Legionnaires of Saskatchewan and citizens of Regina hailed the Canadian Legion's new Dominion president, Brigadier General Alex Ross, at a complimentary dinner tendered to him here tonight.
General Ross outlined a new policy for the Canadian Legion, chief planks of which were service to Canada in peace, as in war, and service in the house of world peace.
"We, the veterans of Canada," he said, "realize we have a duty to perform in leading our thoughts to the minds of people from thoughts of war to the necessity of peace."
The Legion's new motto, he said, was "They Served Till Death. Why Not We?" He appealed to ex-servicemen to join in service to the common good, and to back him in an aggressive campaign for a greater Legion organization.
The old soldier, said General Ross, still had his contribution to make to Canada, even if it were only by giving an example of a steadiness of character in difficult times.
"What sort of a business man is he?"
"The only thing he ever got honestly was his rheumatism."

COUNCILLOR DENIES BOARD "BUCKED" HIM

Councillor E. C. Warren, Ward Two Sanich representative, denied that he had stated members of the municipal council had "bucked" him on every measure, during a relief committee session of the council, last night.
Press statements, credited to P. Warren at a Wednesday meeting of Ward Two Non-Political Representatives' Association, presented at the council meeting, said Councillor Warren had declared the council had opposed him on every measure.

to this area as a "poison spot of crime."

DOCTOR SUSPENDED
Dr. Mortensen was suspended after admitting he had treated Dillinger and John Hamilton, his chief lieutenant, about the middle of March, for gunshot wounds.

The health officer's confusion as to whether the date was March 13, 14, or 15 prevented authorities from determining whether it was in the Sioux Falls, S.D., Security National Bank raid that the desperadoes were wounded or in the robbery of a Mason City, Iowa, bank. The wounds, Mortensen said, were in the shoulders and were not dangerous.

MAGISTRATE'S RULING UPHOLD

Mr. Justice Murphy Dismisses Appeal in East Indian Drug Case

The appeal, by way of habeas corpus proceedings, taken on by Stuart Henderson on behalf of Beni, Ditto and Sohan Singh, has been dismissed by Mr. Justice Murphy, in the Supreme Court here. The appeal was from a summary conviction by Magistrate Jay, in which the convicted East Indians had been charged with having opium in their possession. The offence alleged was having poppy heads, which had been gathered from the field, and which, it was contended, were to be used for making a drink which, an analysis showed, was strong in morphine content.

His Lordship points out, in his judgment, that there being no certiorari to aid the court, he was confined to an examination of the warrant as returned and to the question of the magistrate's jurisdiction.

QUESTION RAISED

It is pointed out that the conviction was one of having in possession a drug, to wit morphine. What was held in possession were poppy heads, and it was contended that this was not morphine within the meaning of the act.

Mr. Justice Murphy said this was not a matter going to the magistrate's jurisdiction, but was a question of fact for his decision on the hearing.

"The matter, so far as jurisdiction is concerned, is not did the magistrate come to a wrong conclusion, but ought he ever to have begun the inquiry?" says the judgment.

"In view of the code provisions and of the facts as shown on the face of the return, it is, in my opinion, hopeless to contend that the magistrate ought never to have begun the inquiry," concludes His Lordship.

Oxford Group to Hold Open House Here for Women

An open house for women has been arranged by the local Oxford Group, to be held, tomorrow, at the home of Mrs. H. P. Bagley, 645 Poul Bay Road, at the corner of Runnymede Avenue. The morning session will start with a quiet time and Bible study at 10:30, followed by a discussion on surrender, sharing and guidance. Lunch will take place at 12:45, tea and milk to be provided.

The afternoon session will start at 2:30, when instruction will be given on how to hold a group meeting, followed by team questions. A break will be made at 4 o'clock for refreshments, followed by prayer and fellowship. At 5:30 supper will be held. These sessions are intended for women groupers only.

At 8 o'clock in the evening a strong team of women will address an open meeting, at which all those of the feminine gender who are interested will be welcome.

A request has been sent in to the local Oxford Group by residents at Cowichan Station for a team to be sent there to witness, on Sunday afternoon, and a team of six or more will go up for that occasion.

"BLUE MONDAY"

We have an inquiry for the significance of this expression, which we use ordinarily in allusion to Monday being the day when one must return to work, after the Sunday holiday. In England the term is used for the second Monday after an important horse race, for this is the day decreed at Tattersall's as the time when settlements must be made.

Originally, "Blue Monday" was the Monday before Lent. Its name is said to have originated in Germany, in allusion to the fact that on that day the altar cloths were changed to blue (actually a bluish violet), and observances of the day made.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HORSE LIVER FOR PERNICIOUS ANAEMIA

You have had some blood taken from the tip of your finger or the lobe of your ear, and may wonder just what it should contain to be considered good, fair, or poor.

Blood is considered good when it has 90 per cent or more of haemoglobin (iron), and four and a half to five million of red blood corpuscles in a certain quantity of blood.

It is considered fair when it has 80 to 85 per cent haemoglobin and about four million red blood corpuscles.

It is considered poor when it has less than 75 per cent haemoglobin and less than four million red blood corpuscles.

As you know, liver—calf, cow, pig, sheep—has been able to save the lives of those afflicted with pernicious anaemia. Pernicious anaemia, always fatal heretofore, is when the blood has not enough red corpuscles and so not enough iron and nourishment for the tissues.

As the original experiments were made by Drs. Minot and Murphy, Boston, using calf's liver, it was thought for some time that only calf's liver was effective. However, it would appear that liver from the cow, sheep and pig, and also the lining of the stomach of the hog are all effective in curing pernicious anaemia.

Drs. O. Richter, A. E. Myer and A. C. Ivy, of Chicago, have been experimenting with horse liver in the treatment of severe cases of pernicious anaemia. The horse liver was in the form of an extract and was injected into the veins.

One of the severe cases showed only 24 per cent haemoglobin and less than one million red blood corpuscles instead of the normal 95 to 100 per cent haemoglobin and five or more million red blood corpuscles.

The greatest effect of the injection of the horse liver was found to be from the fifth to the seventh day, and it took from four to eight weeks treatment to achieve satisfactory results. The average daily gain in haemoglobin was 1 per cent, and in red cells nearly sixty thousand.

While horse liver didn't help all the cases, it did help some cases that had stopped improving during the use of other forms of liver treatment.

"Just look what you missed, George," he said. "Aren't you sorry now you didn't help me with that last job?"

The inspector had put the pupils through a stiff examination in which they had given every satisfaction. Then he proceeded to ask a few questions.

"Can you finish this proverb?" he asked of a diminutive youngster. "People who live in glass houses—"

Bewilderment was expressed in the child's face, but after a short interval he answered: "People who live in glass houses can't 'ave a barf."

Edmonton Grads Extended by Eastern Titleholders in Championship Series

Defending Champs Defeat Windsor in Second Game 47-38

Easterners Hold Margin of Points During First Two Quarters When Grads Unable to Find Basket—Third Game to Be Played Saturday—Glady's Fry Leads Scoring

EDMONTON, April 26 (CP).—Edmonton Grads, tonight, defeated Windsor Alumnæ in the second game of the Dominion senior women's basketball title series by a score of 47 to 38. Grads took the first game Tuesday by 84 to 20. The third game will be played here Saturday.

Different than in the first game, the Grads had a fight on their hands from the outset. The Windsor girls held a margin of the play in the first two quarters, and more than made things interesting for the champions. However, Grads were held in check because of poor shooting—not because they did not have many opportunities to score.

The Windsor representatives took long shots and, on many occasions, made them count. Time and again, from well past centre floor, the Windsor sharpshooters let go and they passed the ball through the hoop in a great display of marksmanship.

Then, quick to take advantage of the Grads, who were not expecting the changed attack, the Windsor girls rushed in for their rebounds and often scored. Grads switched their defence, and gradually gained control of the situation, but for the loyal supporters of the team there were a few uncomfortable moments.

Glady's Fry, great centre of the Grads, was high scorer with fifteen points. Captain Margaret MacBurney, who usually gets a "basket-full" of points, was not clicking with her shot, and was far down in the list.

LINEUPS
Windsor:—Losing, 4; Hytten, 15; Fisher, 10; 6; Rich, 5; Cornwall, Francis, Hallett, Total, 30.
Edmonton—MacBurney, 10; Belanger, 2; Fry, 15; Neale, 3; Stone, 5; Bennie, MacDonald, 8; Munton, Total, 47.

ENID WILSON Single Point to Give Arsenal XI Soccer Laurels

Gunners Need Only Draw to Win English First Division Championship—Will Meet Chelsea Tomorrow—Scottish Loop Ends Saturday

Three Times Holder of British Women's Title Declared Ineligible

LONDON, April 26 (AP).—Enid Wilson, three times British women's golf champion, today was declared ineligible to compete in the 1934 renewal because she deviated from her straight reporting job at a London newspaper to give advice on golf.

Aspiring girl golfers were asked to send photographs to the newspaper showing themselves playing various shots and Miss Wilson then was to advise what was wrong, if anything. This, the Ladies Golf Union decided, was a violation of the amateur code and it declined to accept her entry.

Miss Wilson, one of the world's leading women golfers, has held the British title for three straight seasons. She competed in the United States championship in 1931 and 1933, being eliminated both times in the semi-final round.

POPULAR FOLLOWER OF ENGLISH CODE CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Succeeds Russell Ker as Prexy for 1934-35 Season—George Paulin and Fred Cabell Re-elected—Retiring Officials Highly Praised for Work—Garrison XV to Move Up

The reins of the Victoria Rugby Union will be guided by Carew Martin, well-known follower of the English code, for the ensuing twelve months, as a result of the annual meeting held last night in the board room of The Colonist. Martin was selected president unanimously and replaces Russell Ker, who steered the union through two successful seasons in splendid manner before retiring. Rugby's new prexy, stated that he would try to carry on as successfully as his predecessor.

Complete list of officers follow: Hon. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, patron; His Worship Mayor erected before the season opens," continued Mr. Ker.

OFFICERS THANKED
He went on to thank Carew Martin, chairman of the referees' board, and all the referees for the time and trouble they went to in helping the game. The executive came in for high praise in the report, as did the representatives of the press for their fine support. Although retiring as president, Ker stated that his interest would be the same, and he would assist the union in every way possible in promoting Rugby in the future.

Statements from Secretary Paulin, Treasurer Cabell and Auditor Despreux were followed, and all were highly praised for their splendid work during the year. A vote of thanks also went out to Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital for the fine manner in which they looked after injured players throughout the season.

It was announced at the meeting the Garrison Tommies, "B" champions, would be relegated to senior "A" company next season. Coach Claude Campbell, of the Victoria High School, although not present, sent word that two teams would be playing in the intermediate division from the institution when the 1934-35 campaign opened.

Charlie Morton, coach of the senior 5th Brigade, made a suggestion to the meeting that the trustees of the Cowichan Cup be asked to amend their deed of gift so as to have all teams play through the series, instead of the present rule, which allows the cup to be held by the cupholders to wait until the final round to play. The meeting was in favor of the suggestion and the trustees will be approached in the matter.

If these twelve horses go to the post, it will be the best Derby field from a quality standpoint, since twenty Grand set the record of 201 4-5 for the mile and a quarter in the 1931 event.

Mrs. I. D. Sloane's Cavaleade, Kentucky-bred colt, equaled the track record in the Shennandoah Stakes at Havre de Grace, Wednesday, after a mile and seventy yards in 1:41 4-5.

By ALEX MORRISON

A lopped shot happens to run straight over some rough ground and comes to rest within six inches of the hole. "Good shot," your friend will shout.

If your smart friend reminds you self forcibly that it was a poor shot, you jerked the club back, stabbed at the ball and looked up so that you nearly missed it altogether. That was your contribution.

Lady Luck saw fit to favor you in the instance by affording you the same result as you'd get from a perfect swing. Your luck will carry you only so far. In the long run you'll get as many bad breaks as you will good ones.

You'll progress only as you improve your swing. Ignoring faulty swings doesn't make for improvement in your game.

However, since the hazard is behind him, it must be remembered that the ball must be dropped not nearer the hole. The player would either have to recross the hazard or drop the ball without penalty, or a sufficient distance to either side would bring him "not nearer the hole" as required by the rule. Again it would be wise for the player who is not certain of being able to carry to safety beyond the hazard to play short and safe.

How Teams Will Line Up for English Cup Soccer Tomorrow

WEMBLEY STADIUM, April 26 (CP).—The teams for the English Cup final, tomorrow, were selected tonight as follows:

Portsmouth—J. Gilfillan, goal; J. Mackie and W. Smith, backs; J. Nichol, J. Allen and Captain D. Thackeray, half-backs; F. Worrall, J. Smith, Sam Weddie, J. Easson and S. Rutherford, forwards.

Manchester City—E. Swift, goal; L. H. Barnett and W. Dale, backs; M. Busby, Captain S. Cowan and J. Bray, half-backs; E. E. Toseland, Bob Marshall, Sam Tilson, Alec Herd and Ernie Brook, forwards.

out of the dip. Minoru drew away and won easily. Two lengths and a half separated the second and third horses. Bayardo was fourth. The betting was 4 to 1 on Minoru, 33 to 1 on Phalaron and 100 to 1 on Louis Viers. The favorite was quoted at 13 to 8. The Wilbraham Plate of 300 sovereigns, distance, four furlongs, was won by Vale, with Flying Sea second and Destination third. Among the ten starters was Mr. Whitney's Limorad.

It was a veritable field day for Victoria's blue-blooded canine as the Tacoma dog show, which opened yesterday, a grand sweep was made by those local owners who sent their dogs across the Sound and the hours won bear eloquent testimony to the superiority of the local dogs over those from other points. To J. Wolfenden's pointer bitch, spot, went the premier honors, easily capturing the laurels for the best pointer at the show. Local dogs won prizes in every class.

There is a move afoot among the sportsmen of Victoria having in view the organization of a league for the protection of fish and game of Southern Vancouver Island. The promoters of this scheme contend that the club, which has been in existence for the past few years, has not been doing all it might to mount the extermination and to nurse the stock of fish and feathered game found in these parts. They claim that the old organization has been a dead letter for many months and they are anxious to bring another into being that will take a more active interest in the matters referred to.

"What's happened, George?" she asked her husband, who had left the car to investigate.

"Puncture," he said, briefly.

"You ought to have been on the lookout for this," was the helpful remark. "You remember the guide warned you there was a fork in the road."

The 2,000 guineas stakes for the colts and fillies foaled in 1909 was run at Newmarket track, England, yesterday, and was won by King Edward's Minors. The Duke of Portland's Phalaron was second and W. Raphael's Louis Viers was third. Eleven horses started. The victory of King Edward's horse in the first classic of the present season was immensely popular, although most of the public money was on the hitherto unbeaten Bayardo. The favorite, however, never was dangerous. Louis Viers made most of the running, but coming road.

PORTSMOUTH FAVORED TO CAPTURE ENGLISH CUP

115,000 Expected To Watch Football Classic at Wembley

Great Throng Will Be On Hand for Final Tomorrow Between Portsmouth and Manchester City — His Majesty to Attend if Weather Is Favorable

WEMBLEY STADIUM, England, April 26 (CP).—The field of Wembley gleamed like a billiard table today, all set for the classic English Soccer Cup final between Portsmouth and Manchester City, Saturday afternoon.

If they could get into the stadium, 400,000 persons would see the great North-and-South clash between the Pompeys and the City. There were that many applications for tickets. In Portsmouth alone, allotted 7,500 tickets, there were 35,000 applications. More than 115,000 are expected to attend.

April showers followed by bright periods of sunshine have built up the turf splendidly, and after cutting and rolling, this afternoon, the pitch was in perfect condition.

While myriads of preparations are going on, the players have been golfing and taking things easy, all week. The City has been at Southport and the Pompeys at their own seaside.

KING MAY ATTEND

If the weather is favorable His Majesty will attend the match, otherwise the Prince of Wales will deputize.

The stadium was a hive of activity, today, as preparations went forward. Telephones were installed over which the result will be flashed to London telegraph headquarters for transmission all over the world.

Besides the 50,000 bottles of beer, there will be 50,000 bottles of mineral water, 400 gallons of milk, 100 pounds of tea, 17,000 meat pies, 14,000 sandwiches, 10,000 slices of cake and 5,000 buns.

The Royal Automobile Club has arranged parking space for 2,500 cars and 600 motorbuses, special trains from all parts of the kingdom will run direct to the stadium.

Portsmouth is favorite in the betting, but only by slight odds. The City were beaten in the final last year by Everton. Before that they had gained the final round only twice, their only victory being over Bolton Wanderers thirty years ago. Portsmouth is making its second appearance in the final. Bolton Wanderers beat them five years ago.

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP).—The whereabouts and plans of Maximilian Adelbert Baer, who is about as easy to catch up with as John Dillinger, are no longer a mystery to Madison Square Garden.

It cost something over $20 in long-distance calls to track down the leather-jugging Lothario in Des Moines, Ia., and relieve the blood pressure that was straining Jimmy Johnston's safety valve to popping. Baer was due here two days ago. The Garden's boxing manager hadn't heard from him since he signed to WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP).—The Altering American League champions came to life with a barrage of base hits in the first innings of their game with Boston Red Sox here, today, and went on to win, 10-1.

The Missions split a doubleheader at Seattle Thursday, losing the first game, 3 to 4, and winning the second, 8 to 2.

Manager Street, of the Missions, ordered his pitcher, Osborne, to pass Hunt, of Seattle, in order to pitch to Fred Berger in the first game. Andy Harrington, of Seattle, had just tied the score at three-all with a long baseline drive that brought in two runs. Berger slammed a two-bagger against the centerfield screen, scoring the winning run for the Indians. This was the third straight victory for Herman Pillette, Seattle pitcher.

A five-run attack in the first inning and one more counter in the sixth brought Hollywood a 6 to 5 victory at Portland in the opening game of the series.

Big Sixth Inning

All of Portland's runs were made in the sixth inning, when the Beavers batted around. Bryan, who replaced Wilson for Portland, went out in the first inning, kept the stars in leash most of the way. Oakland won at San Francisco, 4 to 1, in a game that saw LeRoy Hermann, Seattle's star right-hander, defeated and driven from the box for the first time this season.

Otho Nicholson, Sacramento hurler, late of the Chicago White Sox, held the clubbing Angels at bay while his teammates sent J. Millard Campbell to his first defeat of the season, 8 to 3, at Los Angeles.

AIRDREONIAN TO STAY IN SCOTTISH FIRST DIVISION

GLASGOW, April 26 (CP).—Queen of South and Airdreionians played a 1-1 tie in the First Division of the Scottish Football League, today. The point gained will keep the Airdrie club from going down to the Second Division. The worst that can happen to them is a tie with Third Lanark for the demotion along with Cowdenbeath. Airdrie has a shade better goal average than Third Lanark.

At the same time the point for Queen of South put that club into a tie with Celtic for third place.

Court Hears Strange Tale of Attempt to Make Money Chemically

VANCOUVER, April 26 (CP).—Pete Mukan, thirty-nine, Rumanian, was convicted of stealing $1,795 from John Kuzky, fifty-three-year-old Pole, in county court, here, today, and sentenced to two and one-half years in New Westminster Penitentiary.

Kuzky wept bitterly in court as he told Judge A. M. Harper of the disappearance of his twenty years' savings. He said Mukan demonstrated how money could be doubled. He claimed the Rumanian took two $1 bills and placed them in a dish of medicine and, next day, produced $4 from the dish.

WRAPPED IN PAPER
Kuzky declared Mukan induced him to wrap the money in newspapers. He said the parcel was placed in a dish of medicine and, after removal, was placed in Kuzky's coat.

Three candles were lit by Mukan, Kuzky said, and Mukan prayed that he would not disclose the transaction to anybody. Kuzky stated he, too, joined in the prayer.

MONEY DISAPPEARED
Witness said Mukan instructed him to return in three days, when the parcel would be opened and, as Kuzky believed, his money would be doubled. On the appointed day, however, Kuzky said he could not find Mukan. He said he investigated the package in his pocket and found it contained only paper.

Mukan's counsel admitted, for the purpose of obviating necessity of bringing witnesses, that Mukan made deposits in Calgary banks for amounts totaling $1,588 on February 13.

WON IN LOTTERY
Mukan said he won the money in a Chinese lottery in Winnipeg two years ago, and had carried it about with him for a time because he wanted cash to buy a home. He later deposited it in two separate banks in Calgary.

Kuzky was informed by his counsel he would recover about $600, the remainder being claimed by an unnamed party under an assignment.

Tonight, the James McGrath Players will present "The Rotters," that amusing Lancashire play, by H. F. Maltby, at the Shrine Hall, for one night only. Acted by a specially chosen company, with James McGrath playing the chief role, this should prove a treat for all theatre-goers who enjoy a real comedy. It is a laugh from beginning to end.

This tale of a respectable family in a small country town, is a splendid satire, and has the added attraction of delightful Lancashire humor. It is a part in which it may be said that James McGrath reveals. All the cast has entered into the spirit of the play and it will be one of the best entertainments seen in Victoria this year.

At the Theatres Starts Today

'Wonder Bar' at Dominion Today

Al Jolson Makes Fine Comeback in Brilliant Musical—Dick Powell in Cast

Al Jolson and Dick Powell appear together for the first time on either stage or screen in the First National musical drama, "Wonder Bar," which comes to the Dominion Theatre today. Both of them sing in the picture, but never in a duet. They are rival songsters.

Al got his singing start as a choir boy in a synagogue, his father being a cantor. Dick's first song was "Casey Jones," taught to him by a railroad engineer—a friend of the Powell family.

Al can't play the piano. He can't read music. Dick reads music well enough, but he doesn't play the piano any better than Al does.

In "Wonder Bar" they are actually rival actors, and in the film story rivals in love. The picture is a mammoth musical drama, with spectacular numbers, in which 300 beautiful girls take part, created and staged by Busby Berkeley, with music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin. It is set amid the gay revelries of a Parisian night club, giving a peep into the backstage life of the entertainers.

KICKS GET RESULTS WHEN HARD ENOUGH

ELKIN, N.C., April 26 (CP).—F. C. Burchett raised a kick when officers took his automobile and seventy gallons of liquor. He raised an even bigger kick when they put him in jail.

That's why police are looking for him. He kicked so hard that he broke through the partition wall in the little city jail and departed.

TO THE LADIES

By VIRGINIA VANE

LAZINESS NOT OVERCOME IN ONE LESSON

Dear Miss Vane: Before I married, several friends told me that the man I was marrying was lazy, and not a good provider. I loved him too much to believe outsiders, but after a year and a half of marriage, I found out that they'd been telling the truth.

I had to leave my husband and go home to my mother with my new baby. Now, my husband is working, although he earns very little. He wants me to go back to him, living either with his sister, or in furnished rooms with him. He says he can't live without me. My father is not a rich man, and I don't see how I can go on sponging on him. Shall I stay at home and get a job, and support my child? Or shall I go back? I still love my husband, and hate the present situation, where I am not allowed to see him at all.—WONDERING.

If the man were fundamentally lazy to begin with, as your friends suggested, it would take more than a year and a half of marriage to shake him out of the habit. With the best intentions in the world, he might have allowed his shiftlessness to crop out, now and then.

It seems to me that since you took a chance in marrying a man with your husband's reputation, it is more or less up to you to stick by the job you undertook. I quite understand that your first consideration now is your child's welfare. But there is a possibility that the same consideration might cause your husband to turn over a new leaf.

It is hard to teach some men responsibility. They can't learn it overnight. The habit of a lifetime can't be broken immediately.

Certainly, no influence could be more likely to make a good provider out of a shiftless loafer than a woman's love, and the knowledge that a little life depended on his own efforts. If there is any good in a man, such influences will bring it out.

Whereas there is a definite danger that the naturally lazy individual, face to face with the fact that he's lost all the tenderness and love he ever knew—might fall back with a sigh of utter weariness and say: "Well, what's the use of working now? I've got nothing to gain. Might as well be the bum I'm supposed to be!"

For that reason, Wondering, I suggest that you go back to the man you love with all the encouragement you can give him. Make it clear that unless he sticks to his job and shows signs of being a steady and responsible worker, you cannot afford to depend on him for long.

Ask your parents to give the man another chance. Tell them that if the experiment does not work, you will find yourself a job and bring up your child. But don't turn your back on the possibility that there may be far more good in your husband than you have yet discovered.

Eighteen months of marriage isn't honestly a fair test.

This may be exactly the right moment for turning the tide of events and persuading your husband to take his responsibilities seriously.

UNHAPPY NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR BOY FRIEND'S FLIGHT

Dear Miss Vane: I have known a boy on and off for some years. In the old days he was always breaking dates, etc. I couldn't take him seriously. We lost track of each other, until some months ago he suddenly called on me. He was serious this time, and talked of marriage. I loved him, and said I'd marry him. I invited him to meet my family, but at the last moment I got cold feet, thinking that my people might not be too nice to him. I wrote him a note asking him not to come. He never came again. I heard from others that he'd taken it all badly, and was drinking. Then I heard that he'd taken up with the wrong sort of girl, and not long after that, that he'd had to marry her.

Now I feel terribly about all this, and want to know whether I am responsible? If I see him again, what shall I do or say? Please help me.—UNHAPPY W.

It's a painful story, Unhappy, but you need not feel that you are the cause of the whole sordid tragedy.

The fact that, in a moment of panic, you lost your head and wrote a note which might have hurt your fiancé's feelings, does not excuse his plunging himself into an affair which brought him all his trouble.

Don't you see that the normal, steady, sane man doesn't go to pieces over a note written him by his best girl? He may be angry—he may rave and rant—but you can bet his first move is to go to the lady of his heart and ask her what the heck she means by pulling anything like that?

He may be hurt deeply so that his pride impels him to stay away from his sweetheart—but pride don't hold out for ever. Neither does hurt pride make it necessary for a man to go in for debauchery in a big way, just to show he's cruelly wounded. Only a weakling uses a blighted romance as an excuse for his excesses.

The man who hasn't the courage to take a jilting, and go on with his life normally and decently, isn't brave enough to deal with any of life's problems. And you need feel no responsibility toward the weakling who couldn't stand even a slight snub without plunging into all kinds of dissipation. The answer is that life would have been too much for him anyway so long as he lacked sufficient stamper to meet it.

Treat him just as a casual acquaintance when you meet him again. He has written flims to your romance, and if you even hint at renewing it, under the present circumstances, you will make life far more difficult for him than it already is.

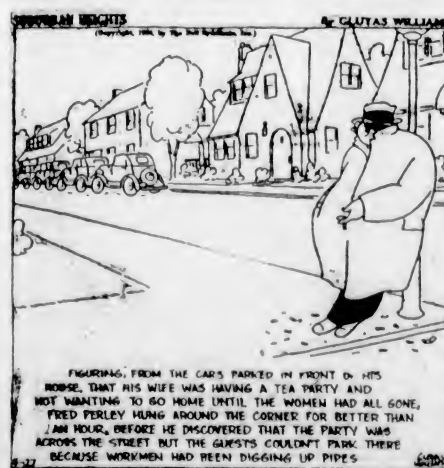

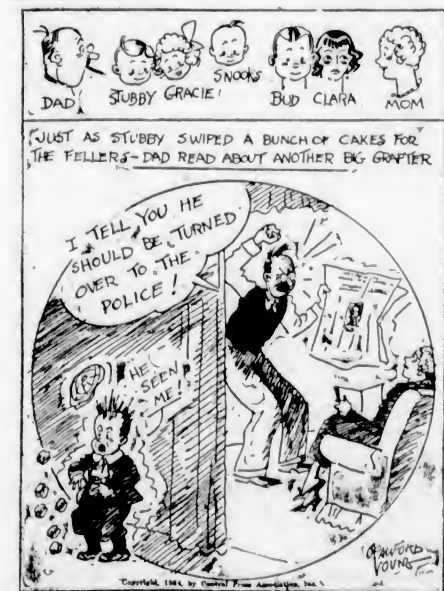

Your diplomatic error was not, after all, such a sad mistake since it showed up to you once and for all the kind of man you might have married.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Newspapers Inc.)

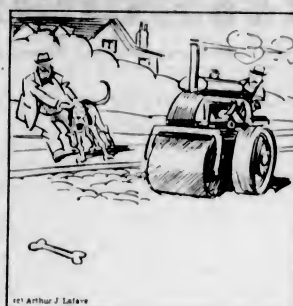

Mother was busy preparing tea, give the question much thought, when little Jimmy arrived home just replied with the first thing after a trying day at school, that came into her head.

"I say, mum," said the boy, with "Oh," she said, "a very wise old school frown, who invented 'H'm,' said Jimmy, "I might have known it would be a grown-up."

LEGEND IS DOOM OF STARVED BEAR

Indian Fearing He Might Suffer Fate of Another Shoots Bruin in Den

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., April 26 (CP).—An Indian legend coming down from the years before the white man trod the wilds of Algoma district was responsible for the death of a Batchawana bear in its den, last January, according to John Tawabinsie, a full-blooded Ojibwa trapper. He killed the bear after it had emerged from its hibernating quarters. Unable to obtain food, the animal was starving to death.

"A long time ago, before the white man came, two Indian families were living close together between Mekinsia and the Montreal River," related Tawabinsie. "It was a winter something like the present one: food was scarce, and there was a famine among the Indians.

"One night a bear came out of its den, hungry; found the tracks of an Indian, and followed them. The animal broke into the cabin, killed the Indian, his squaw and two paposes and departed." Another Indian told the family dead.

AFRAID OF NIGHT VISIT

"That is the reason I followed this bear and killed it," said Tawabinsie who, with Frank Cadreau, had a trapping cabin nearby. They were afraid the bear would visit them in the night.

Tawabinsie and Cadreau had been visiting their traps when they came upon the tracks of the animal. When they stopped, the bear approached them. Tawabinsie managed to unloose his gun but, as he did so, the animal disappeared in the bush. With their guns, the men tracked the animal to its den, under an old pine log.

"I looked in and saw its head with ears sticking up," said Tawabinsie. "He was all skin and bones. He aimed between his eyes and shot

Little Bedtime Stories

The Danger Signal

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

There was a great deal of uneasiness in the big barn where the Robber Rats lived. Would Billy Mink return, or had he just made a chance visit and gone somewhere else? The grey old leader of the rats felt sure that Billy would return. He was too anxious to eat, and you know, when a rat's appetite fails he must be very much disturbed indeed.

But the younger rats thought the grey old leader needlessly frightened, and they went about their business of stealing food and gnawing holes wherever there seemed a chance of finding a new food supply, just as if nothing had happened. However, each hole which led into the barn was continually watched by sharp eyes. These rats did not intend to be taken by surprise a second time.

Rats prefer the hours of darkness. They hate the light of day. Perhaps that is because their deeds are deeds of darkness. So, when daylight came most of the rats returned to their beds to sleep. Only underneath the barn where it was dark did any of them continue to run about seeking what mischief they might get into.

WANTED IN EVERY HOME

SOOTHING HEALING ANTISEPTIC

"He'll probably sleep all day," thought the grey old leader.

But the wise, grey old leader saw to it that a watch was kept on each hole just the same as during the night. He didn't think Billy Mink would come in the daytime, but he was wise enough to know that Billy Mink is forever doing the unexpected. He suspected that Billy would take great pains not to let the farmer who owned that barn know that he was anywhere about.

"He'll probably sleep all day," thought the grey old leader, "but just as soon as it begins to get dark he'll be back here. I just feel it in my bones."

But it wasn't dark when there suddenly sounded the danger signal from one of the watchers. In fact, it was broad daylight, the very middle of the day. You see, daylight and darkness are all one to Billy Mink. He sleeps whenever he feels sleepy, regardless of whether it is night or day. At all other times he is very wide awake indeed. It happened that Billy had awakened just about noon that day, and as usual with him after a nap, he was hungry.

CHAPTER XVIII

Tony slipped from the fuselage to the ground. Vanderbilt and Taylor, watching, expected at any moment to see him stagger or shudder or fall writhing to the earth. But he did not. There was no fright on his face—his expression was locked and blank. He sweated. He sniffed in the air cautiously after expelling the breath he had held. Then he drew in a lungful, deeply, courageously. A light wind from the sea beyond the cliffs fanned him. He stood still—waiting, presumably, to die. He looked at the two men who were watching him, and he smiled. He shouldered as if to say that nothing had happened so far.

A minute passed. The men inside the plane sat tensely. Taylor was panting. Two minutes—five. Tony stood and breathed and shrugged again. "Gas or no gas," Taylor said with an almost furious expression. "I'm going out there with Tony."

He went. Vanderbilt followed in a manner both leisurely and calm. The three stood outside together, each waiting for some spasm of illness to attack himself.

"Doesn't seem to be gas," said Tony. "What, then?" asked Taylor. "Who knows? Some plague from the Other People? Some death-wave from the sky? Let's look at them."

The first person they approached, as they went slowly toward the camp and its motionless figures, was Jeremiah Post, the metallurgist. There was no proof that Post was the first to have been affected by this prostration. They happened upon him first; that was all.

The metallurgist lay on his side with his arms over his head. There the gun, if anything appears over-head! Jack, see what you can do with the tube!" Tony pointed to the north corner of the camp. "I'll look over some more of the people; and see what happened to Henderson and Eve—and Randall and Dodson. Dodson's the one to help us, if we can bring him to."

He had caught command again—command over himself and his companions; Taylor already was obeying him; and Vanderbilt took his place at the tube.

Tony moved back into the camp alone. At his feet lay men and girls and women motionless, slightly dead—utterly insensible in their stupor. He could do nothing for them but recognize them.

He did not find Eve Henderson. Where was she, and how? Had she sleep dropped into death for some? He wanted to find Eve to assure himself that she at least breathed as did these others; but he realized that he should first of all locate Dodson—Dodson, if he could be aroused, would be worth a thousand laymen. Then he recollected that he had last seen Dodson in Henderson's dwelling. Tony rushed to it and flung open the door; but what lay beyond it halted him.

He found Eve. She lay where she had fallen, face forward on the desk; and Randall lay slumped beside her. His left hand clasped her right hand; they had been overcome together. Both of them breathed slowly; but they were completely insensible. Dodson had crumpled over a table. There was a pen in his hand, a paper in front of him. Cloth—Tony saw that the cloth was from dresses—had been stuffed around the door. In a bedroom lay Henderson, the rise and fall of his chest almost imperceptible. Tony shook Dodson.

Suddenly he realized that his head was spinning. He plunged to the door and staggered in the fresh air. Gas, after all. The people of Henderson's house had seen it strike the others, and attempted to barricade themselves. They thought it was death. There were still fumes in there.

Dodson—he must get Dodson. He ran back and dragged the huge man into the open. He stood over him, panting. Then he remembered that Dodson had been writing. A note—a record—Tony went for it. So strong had been the poison in the air that he found it hard to read.

"We've been gassed," Dodson had scrawled. "People falling everywhere. No attack visible. We're going to try to seal this room. They're all unconscious out there. I got a smell of it closing a window. Nothing familiar. I think—"

Tony shook Dodson. He brought water and doused him. He brought Dodson's medical kit and tried to make him swallow aromatic spirits of ammonia, and whisky. Dodson could not swallow.

Tony jerked about, as he heard someone move. It was Vanderbilt, who had left his post at the tube. "Nothing in sight out there," Vanderbilt said calmly. "Taylor stays on watch. I ought to be more use in here."

"What can you do?" Tony demanded. "I'm two-thirds of a doctor—for first aid, anyway," Vanderbilt said. "I used to spend a lot of time at hospitals. Morbid, maybe." While he spoke his slow casual words, he had taken Dodson's kit and had been working over the physician. "I gave him a hypo of caffeine and strychnine and digitals that would have roused a dead elephant. He's still out, though."

"To the tubes!" And Tony pointed to them, aimed like cannon into the air—the huge propulsion tubes from the Ark, which Henderson and he had mounted on their swivels at the edges of the camp. From them could be shot into the air the awful blast that had propelled the Ark through space, and which melted every metal except the single substance with which they were lined.

The nearest of these engines of flight, so expediently made into machines of defence, was a couple of hundred yards away, and now, as the three made hastily for it, they noticed a grouping of the limp, unconscious forms that told its own significant story.

Several of the men seemed to have been on the way to the great tube when they had collapsed. "You see?" gasped Tony; for the three now were running. "It was an attack! They saw it, and tried to get the tube going!"

Two men, indeed, lay almost below the tube. Tony stared down at them as his hands moved the controls, and felt them in order. "Dead!" Tony asked of Taylor, who bent over the men. Jack shook his head. "Nobody's dead. They're all the same—they're sleeping."

"Do you see Dodson? Have you seen Dodson anywhere?" "No, you want Dodson, especially?" "He might be able to tell us what to do."

Tony threw a switch, and a faint orange glow along a heavy cable. The air crackled softly. "Our power-station's working," he said with satisfaction. "We can give this tube the 'push' when we want to. You know how to give it the gun, Peter?" "I know," said Vanderbilt calmly. "Then you stand by; and give it the metallurgist's gun."

Providing for the future and worrying over it are two different things.

An aged couple had been sitting in front of the fire a long time without speaking. At length the husband inquired: "What were you thinking about?"

The wife replied: "I was just thinking how long we had lived together and that it couldn't go on for ever like this, and the time will soon come when one of us will have to go."

"Yes," assented the old man, "but it's no use worrying about that now."

"No," was the reply, "but I was just thinking that when it does happen I would like to go to California to live."
